Student Council

Our Student Council has tried in every way possible to make our school life more enjoyable and profitable. By sponsoring the chapel they have tried to develop citizenship and leadership among the students. This year as an extra project, they sponsored a clothes drive. The sponsors are Mr. Horn and Mr. Naab. The officers are: pres., Glen Weaver; vice pres., Pat Yadon; sec. treas., Judy Caylor; and reporter, Ann McCammon.

WE LOOK BACK with appreciation to our Student Affairs Committee. We realize it has helped us to have a fuller more enjoyable four years. They have audited the books of the clubs and organizations, and the members have helped plan our school calendar. However, these are only part of their services to us and the school. Mr. Horn heads these activities as chairman and Judy Hart is the sec. Mrs. Williams assisted by Jerry Hart plans our school calendar. Miss Nelson aided by Pat Yadon takes care of the accounts. Mr. Horn assisted by Charles Everhart has charge of the Student Council. Mr. Naab and Judy Hart help with the point system.

Getting Acquainted

This year we had the pleasure of welcoming six new teachers to the staff. Mrs. PEARSON attended Purdue and Ball State which she left with a B.S. degree. This is her first year of teaching; her subject is home economics. She now lives near Roll. Mr. AMSTUTZ hails from Angola, but came to us from Wilkinson. The B.S. degree he received at Purdue enables him to teach biology and vocational agriculture. Mr. MODLIN, who recently received his B. S. degree, is experiencing his first year of teaching. Before attending Ball State, our math instructor's home was Mooresville. Mr. COPPOCK received a B.S. degree from Ball State. He teaches commerce and chemistry and was formerly at Madison Twp. in Jay Co. Miss WICKHAM, who started her teaching career this year lives in Marion. She holds a B.S. from Ball State and teaches general science and physical education. Mr. GLANCY isn't a stranger to us as our English and history teacher was with us in the year '53-'54. Mr. Glancy, who lives at Hartford City, has a B.S. and M.A. degree from Ball State.

The Senior Class

And We're Off!

—To Another Season of Hoosier Madness!

Where Did

It Go???

Athletic Board

The Athletic Board is endeavoring to foster and develop athletics in our school. It also supervises the expenditures of the Athletic Fund.

PACERS

We wish to congratulate the team on their fine sportsmanship and excellent teamwork. Backed by fine coaching ability, our team has shown remarkable improvement since our first game with Dunkirk.

CARL HONAKER using all his past experience again produced a winning team for the Pacers. We are looking forward to another winning team next year. DON SCHWARZKOPF was our best rebounder until he chipped his ankle bone in the Hartford City game. We really missed him during the season. JACK CAIN is a regular player who could handle the ball and make his share of the points. His place on the floor will be difficult to fill. DICK PAYNE is one of the regular starters for the Pacers, and he was high point man in many games; we will certainly miss his sure eye next season. ASSISTANT COACH MODLIN assisted Mr. Honaker a great deal in practice and getting the boys ready for the games. DAVE NESTLEROAD was our youngest regular Pacer. He is a freshmen this year and we are expecting great things from him for three more years. BILL BALES started out slow but showed great improvement during every game. RAY COFFIELD didn't see a great deal of action, however, he was one of our stronger reserves. This is his last year with the Pacers.

PACERS

BILL ROBBINS saw some action with the Pacers and showed great improvement through the season and will return next year with a great deal of experience to his credit. DAVE WILLIAMS came to us this year from Desoto. He has gained a lot of experience that we will certainly be able to use in the future. Although this was his first year on the team, DEWAYNE GROVES'S height was of real use during many of our games. No team could really be a success without the help of a fine student manager. We appreciate the fine moral support received from GARY OVERMEYER. ED KERSHNER a sophomore forward moved up the line from the second team early in the season to a regular player on the varsity. This is TOM NOLLER'S first year on the varsity and we know he is looking forward to getting in more action next year. This is RODNEY BLACK'S first experience with varsity play. TERRY OVERMEYER our assistant manager to Gary, was great help in getting the boys ready for practice and play.

BASEBALL

The Pacers' baseball team has improved this last season; ranking third last year, the Pacers are now in second place in the Eastern Indiana Conference.

The day is Aug. 4, the year, 1972, the place the Flamingo in Las Vegas, Nevada. Through the smoke filled room the curtain rises on the main attraction of the evening, Betty Zoe Racer in "Annie Get Your Gun".

As we move toward our table Mr. and Mrs. Bill Blankenship stop us to say hello. Seated with them are Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kyle, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Rinker. You will remember the wives as Phyllis Bergdoll, Carol Clements, Judy Caylor, and Sue Enochs.

Our gay divorcee Mrs. Reginald Van Dyke XII, the former Carol Denton, in a white ermine stole is talking to Bill Bales, the oil tycoon. During the performance, the waiter, Tom Krebs, served "Butterscotch on the Rocks" mixed by the proficient bartender, Roger Falk.

At intermission time the "Fire House Three-Plus One", a red hot combo consisting of Karen Trussel, Linda Hooks, Betty Carnes, and Raymond Coffield, played a request for Mr. and Mrs. Glen Weaver. She is the former Pat Yadon. Out on the terrace, Jack Cain, the Executive Bookkeeper of the Glessner Dairy, and his most efficient secretary, Mary Beth Buckmaster, are counting the money they won from Joe Kyle at the crap table.

A blood curdling scream from the pool summons a crowd in time to see Dick Payne, the life guard, rescue Janet Fear. Immediately to the scene of the accident comes Dr. James A. Winger with his nurse Mary Ann Ford.

Returning breathlessly to our seats, we are entertained by the famous dance team Sue and Joe Morris. She was formerly Sue Stuke.

All eyes turn to the door as Sue Marshall, the Hollywood celebrity, enters with Larry Miles, her manager, and her bodyguard, Howard Pence. Police Sergeant Ted Ray Harold and his assistant Harold Glatli held back the ardent fans including Shirley Winters, Carl King, Floy Smith, and Ronnie Gibson.

As we leave we are startled to discover that the owners of the Flamingo are the "Gold Dust Brothers", Terry and Gary Overmeyer.

As a grand finale to the reunion of the Class of '57 is invited to the "Burning Arrow" dude ranch owned by Nancyanna Groendyke. The social director, Carol Lautzenheiser, welcomes us while the business manager, Beverly King, and wranglers Jerry Hart and Gerald Baker greet their old friends. As the sun slowly sinks into the west our class feels the satisfaction that comes with seeing our classmates once more.

SENIOR PLAY "REST ASSURED"

Tom Mounsey; Luigi Lanconi, Joe's very timid father, Walter Scott; Martha, Luigi's departed wife, Donna Burchard; Lucifer, the man from "Down Below", Jim Meyers; Miss Akers, Mr. Morlock's secretary, Joyce Hart; George Plew, an attorney, Herschel Needler; Mrs. Smaltz, a giggly middle-aged lady, Helen Herring; Dr. Brown, family doctor, Harold Evans; Mr. Black, Mortician, Bill Kellogg; Jake, Newsboy, Clifford Rinker; Mrs. Frink, washerwoman, Kathryn Goble.

"An Old Fashioned Charm"

A musical comedy was presented by the Music Department, October 19. The cast of characters was: Bob Foster, Millie's husband, Bob Colvin; Millie Foster, Lois's best friend, Betty Racer; Carmelita De Ribera, a "Spanish" dancer, Beverly Weatherholt; Leonard Darcy, young bachelor and casting director; Bunny Brown, Lois's friend, Sue Stucky; Lois Williams, the heroine, Betty Carnes; Hiram MacDuffle, Lois's first love, Gary White; and Manly, Mr. Darcy's manservant, Dick Payne.

Story of Operetta

Lois Williams the heroine, is engaged to an unsuitable young man, Hiram Mac Duffle. The engagement is a secret until Lois's best friend, Millie Foster, learns about it, and decides to announce the news without the consent of those parties most interested. Bob Foster, Millie's husband, explains why the engagement cannot be announced, whereupon the impulsive young matron takes matters into her own hands, as she doesn't like Hiram anyway. At this, Leonard Darcy steps in. He is a young bachelor friend of the Fosters, casting director for Maximum Films, which makes him the apple of all feminine eyes. Millie turns matchmaker, breaks the engagement between Lois and Hiram, and announces to the "gang" that Lois and Leonard are engaged. By the end of the second act they are. Leonard, being very fond of "old-fashioned charms," carries an unlimited supply of them, and gives one to every girl he meets, in an attempt to forestall the inevitable plea for the coveted "chance to get into pictures." Lois by her sincere blind loyalty to the unsuccessful inventor of a "typeless typewriter," teaches Leonard another meaning of the phrase, "old fashioned charm," and all ends happily. Other characters are Carmelita, a "Spanish" dancer, Bunny Brown, whose popularity is due to her ability to lapse into "baby talk," and Manly, Leonard's thrifty manservant.
